I do solemnly swear true faith and allegiance to the constitution of the Irish Free State as by law established, and that I will be faithful to His Majesty King George V and his heirs and successors, lawfully to be made, in the common citizenship of Ireland with Great Britain and her adherence to and membership of the group of nations forming the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Other articles in the text officially given out last night follow: Article I. Ireland shall have the same constitutional status in the community of nations known as the British Empire as the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of New Zealand and the Union of South Africa, with a Parliament having powers to make laws for peace and order and good government in Ireland and an executive responsible to that parliament and shall be styled and known as the Irish Free State.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT.

Article II. Subject to provisions hereinafter set out the position of the Irish free state in relation to the imperial parliament, the powers of the crown, in Ireland, shall be as in the Dominion of Canada, and the law, practice and constitutional usage governing the relationship of the crown or representative of the crown and the imperial parliament to the Dominion of Canada shall govern their relationship to the Irish free state.

Article three provides that "a representative of the crown, in Ireland, shall be appointed in like manner as the governor general of Canada and in accordance with the practice observed in making such appointments."

Article V. The Irish free state shall assume liability for service of the public debt of the United Kingdom as existing at the date thereof and towards payment of war pensions as existing on that date and equitable having regard for any just claims on the part of Ireland by way of set-off or counter claim, the amount of such sums being determined in default of agreement by the arbitration of the arbitrator named in the treaty, one or more independent persons being citizens of the British Empire.

Article VI. Until an arrangement has been made between the British and Irish governments whereby the Irish Free State undertakes her own coast defense, defense by sea of Great Britain and Ireland shall be undertaken by his Majesty's imperial forces, but this shall not prevent the construction or maintenance by the government of the Irish Free State of such vessels as are necessary for the protection of the fisheries. The foregoing provisions of this article shall be reviewed at a conference of representatives of the British and Irish governments to be held at the expiration of five years from the date hereof, with a view to the undertaking by Ireland of a share in her own coastal defense.

FACILITIES FOR FLEET.

Article VII. The government of the Irish Free State shall afford to his Majesty's imperial force (a) in time of peace such harbor and other facilities as are indicated in the annex hereto, and (b) in time of war or of strained relations with a foreign power such harbor and other facilities as the British government may require for the purpose of such defense, as afore-

Article XVII. By way of provisional arrangement for the administration of Southern Ireland during the interval between the date hereof and the constitution of a parliament and a government of the Irish Free State in accordance therewith, steps shall be taken for summoning a meeting for summoning members of parliament elected for constituencies in Southern Ireland since the passing of the government of Ireland act in 1920 and for constituting a provisional government. Article XII. If before the expiration of said month a resolution is presented to His Majesty by both houses of Parliament of Northern Ireland to that effect, the powers of the Parliament and government of the Irish Free State shall no longer extend to Northern Ireland and the provisions of the government of Ireland Act of 1920 (including those relating to the council of Ireland) shall so far as they relate to Northern Ireland continue to be of full force and effect and this instrument shall have effect, subject to the necessary modifications.

Provided that if such an address is so presented a commission of three persons, one to be appointed by the Government of the Irish Free State, one to be appointed by the Government of Northern Ireland and one, who shall be chairman, to be appointed by the British Government, shall determine in accordance with the wishes of the majority of its members as may be compatible with economic and geographic conditions, the boundaries between Northern Ireland and the rest of Ireland, and for the purpose of the Government of Ireland Act of 1920 and of this instrument the boundary of Northern Ireland shall be such as may be determined by such commission.

Article XIV. After expiration of said month, if no such address as mentioned in Article XII has been presented, the parliament of the government of Northern Ireland shall continue to exercise as respects Northern Ireland the powers conferred on them by the government of Ireland act of 1920, but the parliament of the government of the Irish Free State shall in Northern Ireland have in relation to matters in respect of which the parliament of Northern Ireland has not the power to make laws under that act (including matters which, under said act, are within the jurisdiction of the commons of Ireland, the same powers as in the rest of Ireland, subject to such other provisions as may be agreed to in the manner hereinafter appearing.

TEWS, PROBATION FORGER, HEARD ON CHARGE OF DRUNK

Business Man Is Arraigned on Claim of Intoxicated Ride and Chase.

August Tews, Oakland business man, released on probation a few weeks ago after being convicted by a jury of forgery, was arraigned before Superior Judge George Samuels today on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Judge Samuels, after hearing a portion of the evidence against Tews, continued the hearing until December 15, being unable to go on with the hearing because of the murder trial of three alleged Chinese tong gunmen, which has been before the court for a week.

On Thanksgiving night Patrolman Yankie saw an automobile approaching down Grove street without lights. He stepped into the street, waving a pocket electric torch, whereupon the car swerved toward him coming so close it knocked the torch from his hand. He commanded a car and gave chase, following the offender twice around the circle of Grove. Twenty-third, Telegraph and Sycamore streets before catching him. Tews was driving the automobile and, Yankie declares, was drunk. In the back of the car were a five-gallon and a one-gallon container which the city chemist found filled with a liquor that analyzed 37 per cent alcohol by volume.

When continuing Tews' case, morning, Judge Samuels said: "Tews, you have violated every condition of probation."

"MOVIES" CORRECT WORD.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The American word "movies" is far superior to its British synonym "cinematograph," according to Prof. Walter Rikman, of the University of London. He also wants the word "perambulator" shortened to "pram."

Free State being offered the option of taking them over and working them for commercial purposes, subject to admiralty inspection and guaranteeing the upkeep of telegraphic communication there-with.

Clause 3 provides that a convention shall be made between the two governments for the regulation of civil communication by air.

Divorced in Paris.
MRS. DUDLEY FIELD MALONE, who, it has just been learned, obtained a divorce in France last summer. Friends of the Malones say they have been living apart for years. Malone, who is now in New York, but intends to return to Paris, where he is practicing law, confirmed the divorce report, and added: "Mrs. Malone did me the honor to become my wife. We are still very good friends. I have nothing more to say." Mrs. Malone is the daughter of James A. O'Gorman of New York, former United States Senator. Malone was collector of the port of New York, which position he resigned because, it was given out, he disapproved of Mr. Wilson's treatment of the suffragists. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

THIS CHRISTMAS, A BRUNSWICK PHONOGRAPH BY DAVID ZORK

Foremost of all American designers of period furnishings stands David Zork. His artistic supremacy is conceded, his creations recognized everywhere as the standard of beauty and excellence of design.

For the makers of the Brunswick Phonograph he has created a number of period designs which, while of lesser cost than his earlier models, are none the less beautiful, none the less in keeping with his artistry and the periods represented than those previously shown. They are:

The Queen Anne, $235; Colonial, $260; Stratford, $310

Each is characteristic of Zork and of Brunswick. Perfect in design, unsurpassable in its musical quality, and each has every exclusive feature that has contributed so largely to Brunswick fame. The oval wood sound amplifier built on the violin principle, the Ultona, that plays all records perfectly, and the new and more powerful motor.

Already we are putting these beautiful models aside for Christmas delivery. Is yours among them? Easy Terms.

MORSE WILL BE ARRESTED WHEN HE REACHES U. S.

Warrant Issued for Millionaire for Conspiracy and Embezzlement.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Charles W. Morse, millionaire ship magnate, will be arrested on a charge of "conspiracy and embezzlement" immediately upon his arrival in New York next week. It was officially announced here.

Morse is returning to America on the French liner Paris, the same vessel on which he sailed for France on the eve of a Federal grand jury investigation into his $40,000,000 contracts with the United States Shipping Board. His immediate return was demanded by Attorney-General Daugherty.

A warrant charging "embezzlement and conspiracy" has already been issued through the District of Columbia Supreme court. It is "removable," and therefore can be served on the shipping magnate immediately upon his arrival in New York.

Shipping board officials announced that they have prepared all their evidence for submission to the grand jury when the case is moved next Thursday.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SAN QUENTIN, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Louise Peete, convicted of the slaying of Jacob C. Denton, Los Angeles mining man, entered the state penitentiary here today to begin serving a life sentence.

All night long on the trip from Los Angeles she talked to Deputy Sheriff H. M. Dennison, making a full confession, according to that officer of all the facts as she knew of it. He refused to make public any details of what he had been told but said that he would make a report to Sheriff Traeger on his return to Los Angeles tomorrow.

"Mrs. Peete told me everything," said the officer. "It was a long and startling story. She expressed the belief that if her story was investigated it would result in her innocence being established."

With the delivery of Mrs. Peete to the prison authorities her identity merged into a number. She was locked and assigned No. 35,692. Then she was taken in charge by a matron.

The roads are expected to appeal the case. The union depot will cost approximately $17,000,000.

JAPAN TO ASSIST ENGLAND'S MOVES FOR DIVER SLASH

But Nippon Wants a Quota Equal to U. S., Britain, in Place of 5-5-3 Ratio.

By HARRY L. ROGERS, International News Service Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Japan will support Great Britain in her efforts to bring about a reduction in submarine tonnage under the Hughes naval program. It was learned in an authoritative quarter today that Japanese delegation also is prepared to stand behind Balfour in his contention that the tonnage of individual submarines should be materially restricted. In return for this support, Japan expects Great Britain to assist her in securing a quota of submarines equal to that of the United States and Great Britain in the 5-5-3 ratio accorded under the present Hughes plan.

Japan's determination to back the British attempt to cut down the submarine tonnage allotted under the Hughes plan is not based upon humanitarian scruples against the use of the undersea craft, but upon very practical considerations of economy and efficiency in naval preparation. Admiral Baron Kato, head of the Japanese delegation, fully appreciates the value of the submarine, both as a weapon of defense and for use upon the commerce of the enemy as Germany employed it during the late war.

The Baron believes, however, that even the maximum submarine allowance of 50,000 tons accorded under the Hughes plan to Great Britain and the United States is inadequate for the needs of Japan if the submarine is to figure at all in her naval strategy. Convinced that it would be impossible to obtain a sufficient quota, the Baron has determined that Japan would be the part of wisdom to cut the submarine allowance to a minimum, perhaps in the hope of obtaining compensatory increases in other types of vessels more adaptable to the revised naval strategy of Japan.

Japan counts on using throughout the negotiations concerning auxiliary vessels, the same argument employed by Baron Kato in the discussions with Hughes and Balfour on the capital ship ratio, namely, that owing to the weaker financial condition of Japan, sacrifices of completed vessels are felt more keenly by the Japanese than by the United States, and that allowances should be made for this difference.

China Demonstration Scores Negotiations

SHANGHAI, Dec. 7.—A gigantic demonstration protesting against the course of the Shantung negotiations at Washington and demanding the resignation of the Peking government took place here today. It is reported from Peking that President Hu Shih is threatening to retire from office. The Associated Chambers of Commerce sent a telegram to Peking alleging that China had been betrayed. Threats were made that the Chinese delegates would get a hostile reception on their return from Washington. It is charged by adherents of the South China republic that the manner in which direct negotiations were conducted over the future status of Shantung peninsula gave China the worst of it.

Try This for a Good Complexion

Moisten a silk sponge in water or witch hazel. Take a small quantity of Roseon Beautifier on the sponge and apply to the skin. Use a soft cloth to remove the Beautifier evenly, before it dries. In a very few minutes you will see the most remarkable improvement in your complexion—a transformation that will astonish you. The Roseon Beautifier is a cream and powder combined. When applied regularly it soon imparts a soft, velvety texture to the skin, helping to remove blemishes, muddy spots, etc. It is delightfully soothing, and protects tender skin from the harsh action of wind and sun. No face powder is needed when the Roseon Beautifier is used, although powder may be applied over it if desired. One of the advantages of this preparation is that it makes the powder adhere perfectly. A large jar of Roseon Beautifier costs but 50c; small jar, 25c; either white or flesh color. It may be obtained at Owl Drug Co., and leading department and drug stores, where you will find also the coordinated Roseon Face Powder and Roseon Rouge.—Advertisement.

OFFICIAL ORDERS CHICKEN SURVEY IN ENTIRE CITY

A survey of the chickens in Oakland will be made immediately, Commissioner Frank Colbourn gave the order today.

The order, however, did not go to the police department. It went to the health department and concerns the original feathered species which lays eggs and crows at night. The survey will be a result of several complaints of residents who assert that nearby roosters disturb their slumbers.

The sanitary department will make a survey of all the private barn-yards in the built-up district, says Colbourn, "and will ascertain if the henhouses are the requisite distance from residences, twenty feet. The health of the fowl also will be determined as well as their cleanliness. It is also suggested that Oakland establish a chicken zone. No chickens in the downtown districts, and limited numbers in other zones reaching to the distant outskirts of Oakland."

A purse containing 30 cents and various papers was also taken.

Seventy-one years is a long time. Seventy-one years in helping to create happy homes by furnishing them music, and each year their usefulness has been extended, until today there are thousands upon thousands of pianos and player pianos—many of them handed down from generation to generation—that have helped create and build this wonderful monument of business—the Kohler & Chase of today, with scores of branch stores and agencies.

Kohler & Chase built for the future always, and not for today, and during this constructive building the "SOLOELLE" was obtained—the "player beautiful," approaching perfection—as near as humanity possible.

Hear or play the Soloelle and its fascination will forever be upon you, and you will lose all interest in ordinary players. The Soloelle is like no other player piano—it brings to you the ability of masterly execution—to create real tone soulful music, because:

- First: The Soloelle gives you complete control of Tone-Volume in melody and accompaniment separately.

Women Voters Will Study Publicity

Training women in the profession of news gathering and preparation of papers and magazines is the project sponsored by Oakland Center, California Civic League of Women Voters, through the general curator, Mrs. Ella E. Howell. That "it is to advertise" movements and programs, ideas and deals is being admitted by the chairman who have watched results obtained by shops, manufacturers and even the government in publicity campaigns.

Difficulties beset the untamed art of the publicity chairman whose organization at once defines her in telling all its secrets and compasses that she is not gaining space in the printed word to which they believe the club is entitled. Coming per registration and a procession of registrations amid hushed feelings and lost interest. More and more upon the shoulders of the woman who has under her direction the publicity of her group is the burden of that group's success being placed. For many months there has been an openly acknowledged feeling that for those who are or may become this important post, some manner of training and practice would not be amiss. To acquire in all chapters a special meeting of all chapters was held on the future of such a section. Newspaper women of the city have been invited to join the conference.

In Los Angeles for many years the clubwomen have been organized in such a study section. Putting across the matters which interest them into public print with efficiency and despatch. The call for next week's preliminary meeting marks the first effort along such lines in the north.

J. A. Johnston, warden of the state prison at San Quentin, will be the speaker before Oakland Civic Center meeting at 2 p. m. in Academy Temple. "The Cause of Crime" is announced as his subject. A program of music will be rendered by the University High School male quartet. Regular section meetings will precede the regular program.

"Financing Our Public Schools" will be discussed before the economic section at 11 a. m. by P. H. Boren.

Fair price centers have been employed by the Technical High School Parent-Teacher Association to determine whether the 10, 15, 25 and 50-cent "mysteries" which will be its contribution to the country fair of Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, opening on Monday night in the arena of the Municipal Auditorium, are really worth their cost. Today the mothers met in interesting session to peep within the 500 tie-dye wrapped packages and to pass their word that the bundles are worth all that will be asked.

Final passage was given to the ordinance which establish a bureau of fire prevention, appropriate $20,000 for piles and other harbor materials and cut down the list of municipal employees. These ordinances will be effective in eight days.

ADELPHIAN CLUB CONCERT NOTABLE

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.
The Adelphian Club blossomed as a musical producer last evening with the first of a series of concerts to be given in Alameda during the winter season. It was a concert of many enjoyable phases, not alone musical, though in this it was no less pleasing than worthy. But, beyond that, it was a social event of a new and interesting sort and it discovered Alameda to be quite capable of conducting its own artistic affairs without imported executive talent.

The program was presented by the San Francisco Chamber Music Society, an organization of off-proven merit on both sides of the bay, assisted by Mrs. Eva Gruninger Atkinson, contralto, with Benjamin Moore as her accompanist. The Adelphian Club assembly hall was filled and extra seats placed in the promenade were utilized as well.

Tchaikovsky's E-flat minor quartet was the chief offering of the society. The work is among the most grateful of the Russian master's opulent repertoire. It is varied, emotionally rich, melodic, coherent. The long first movement, as an exploit in formal development, has hardly bettered. The society played it with much beauty of expression and tone. Valter Ferner was heard as cellist of the group for the first time on this side of the bay. His style is adult, authoritative; his tone, well-formed and rounded. He was a sturdy support for the others of the quartet whose playing was, as it always is, a lovely thing to hear.

The instrumentalists offered also Beethoven's trio for flute, violin and viola and a group of brother familiar numbers by Schubert, Razzini and Glazounov.

Mrs. Atkinson won warm applause for several of her numbers; in particular Charles Cadman's song of the Robin Woman from "Shanewis," always a showy piece for the person who can sing it. Even better was her rendition of Mrs. Beech's "The Year at the Spring," which she gave as an encore with much expression, excellent phrasing and a sure tone. In a later group of lyrics were represented Gabriel Faure and Poldowski.

The concert was under the auspices of the music history section of the Adelphian Club, which assisted Mrs. J. H. Merrill in her role as impresario. It was admirably managed. The section will present the chamber music society again in January.

TEFFT HELD SAME; HIS WIFE SPURNED BY MRS. YANCEY
Women Involved in Triangular Tangle Meet; Hand of Matron Is Rejected.

The dramatic quality that has been evidenced in the triangle of affairs for Clinton L. Tefft, Berkeley undertaker, was present today when he faced a court on a charge of insanity. It came at the close of the hearing after the charge had been dismissed and when Mrs. Lulu Mae Tefft, Tefft's wife, stepped up to Mrs. Lester A. Yancey and said: "Mrs. Yancey, may I shake hands with you?" The other woman, recently charged with shooting Tefft and but lately tried and discharged in such another insanity hearing, at the one today, hesitated a moment, put her hand behind her and answered: "No, Mrs. Tefft, not after the way you have been talking about me. I do not care to have anything to do with you."

NOTE INTRODUCED.
The hearing, which was held before Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure was the climax of a series of incidents involving Tefft and Mrs. Yancey, which was marked by considerable bitterness on both sides. The insanity complaint against Tefft was sworn to by Lester A. Yancey, whose wife was the chief witness against Tefft. As Judge St. Sure was talking to Yancey near the close of the hearing, and it was apparent by his remarks that the defendant was to be discharged, Mrs. Yancey leaned forward and handed a card to the judge. Upon it were written the words: "Do not cremate me. Bury me in Sunset View cemetery."

TESTIMONY DIFFERS.
The board of examiners hearing the testimony included Dr. William Tappan Lum, of Alameda, and Dr. J. F. Kerkman, of Oakland. Mrs. Yancey, who was the chief witness against Tefft, told of their relations during the eight months of their acquaintance. She said that when Tefft suffered from head-ache attacks he was rambling and incoherent, that he was forgetful of business details and that he was constantly talking of suicide. She also said that he drank to excess at frequent intervals.

Schleuter Company Entertains Workers
More than 200 employees of the A. Schleuter Company and their friends attended the annual dinner given by the firm in their honor last night at the Junny Lind hall. The affair was given under the direction of the store association, of which C. C. D. is president.

During the dinner music was furnished by a Hawaiian orchestra. Miss Lulu Schuler, an employee, danced several dances, which were highly appreciated. The dinner also was entertained with a specialty dance by C. C. D. The dance is an original one, resembling somewhat the Russian Cossack dance.

A. Schleuter, president of the A. Schleuter Company, told of the early history of the store. He first started a small newsstand at Seventh and Washington streets, then, being ambitious, he purchased a candy store in the same neighborhood, but, not being content with the income, he put in a stock of stationery. From there he moved up to Eighth and Broadway and finally was joined by his brother, who added a grocery department. In 1904 they purchased the old Bazaar at Washington street, near Fourteenth, in which premises the present concern is now located.

Still this store is too small for the enormous stock carried. It is his ambition to some day open up in the upper Broadway district with one of the largest stores of the kind in the West. Theodore Schleuter stressed the importance of putting a smile in your work. He was also responsible for giving away several secrets in the form of engagement announcements of several young women employees, which met with much surprise.

Two of the oldest employees, Mrs. J. E. Cheney and Dave Hann, both gave short talks on their experiences with the store many years ago. Hann told of having to hitch the old horse and delivery buggy to a post in front of the store.

WELLS-FARGO NEVADA BANK DEAL IS MADE
Through Sale of Stock Control Passes to the Hellman Estate Group.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Through the sale of one-third of the Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank stock yesterday control of the $75,000,000 institution passed to a group of San Franciscoers associated with the Hellman estate. The sale price was $3,200,000 and the deal was negotiated by F. M. Luman, president of the bank, who is now in New York. Since the death of I. W. Hellman Jr., the management of the bank has been in the hands of Luman and a board of directors, which included representatives of the Hellman estate. The transaction was I. W. Hellman III and Sidney M. Ehrman.

About $5,000,000 of the $7,000,000 resources is undivided profits and surplus. There is a total issue of 20,000 shares of bank stock and the 20,000 shares involved in the transaction were held by about $100 a share. The last quotation on the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange was quoted at $157.50.

It was through a merger in 1903 that the Wells-Fargo interests first came into the bank. The merger took in the Wells-Fargo banking department, established in 1852. The owners of the Nevada National Bank, established in 1875, received 40,000 shares of the merged Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank and the Wells-Fargo interests received 20,000 shares, the same that were passed in yesterday's transaction.

Upon the death of Hellman the management of the bank passed to his son, I. W. Hellman Jr. Warren Hellman, grandson of I. W. Hellman Sr., one of those who represented the Hellman estate in the transaction in New York, is studying banking methods in the Eastern city and in time is expected to take over the management of the San Francisco branch.

Details of the transaction were learned yesterday by E. S. Heller, representing the Hellman estate here, who received a telegram from the New York representatives of the store, comparing this method to the modern delivery service which the A. Schleuter Company now use. After the dinner of dancing and cards, a feature of the dance was the wonderful success of the "Get-Acquainted Paul Jones."

D. Saal was toastmaster for the evening. The late Courtland Drum, a native of Pennsylvania. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral Friday, Dec. 9, 1921, 1 p. m., from the parlors of Hudson & Butler, 953 8th st. Interment Greenview cemetery.

WHY YOU NEED IRON To make you strong and "brainy" and put the power into your blood to overcome disease germs The food you eat contains carbon. When your food is digested it is absorbed from the intestines into the blood. When the carbon in your food comes in contact with the oxygen carried by the iron in your blood, the carbon and oxygen unite, and by so doing they give off tremendous energy, thereby giving you great force, strength and endurance. Without iron your blood carries no oxygen, and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food, so that what you eat does you no good—you do not get any strength from it—so is the putting coal into a stove without a fire. You cannot get any heat unless the coal unites with the fire. The strongest weapons with which to prevent and overcome colds, pneumonia, kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervous prostration, in fact almost any disease or disease germs is plenty of good rich, pure blood, strength, courage and endurance and the greater energy carrier in the body is organic iron, not metallic iron which people usually take, but organic iron like the iron in spinach, leaflets and apples, and like the iron contained in what is known as organic Nascated Iron, which may be had from almost any druggist. Nascated Iron offers the strength, courage and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown folks in two weeks' time. It has been used and highly recommended by former United States Senators. Members of Congress, Judges of U. S. Courts, many celebrities and prominent men. Over 1,000,000 people are now using it annually. Satisfactory results are guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Sold by all druggists in tablet form only. Advertisement.

WITH THE INTERLOPERS FOUND IT HARD TO LEAVE.

"Sorry, sir, but I'm afraid I'll have to back out." The man's tone was respectful, though firm. "There isn't room here to turn around."

"But the back of the junk over there has been turned around," pointed a derisive finger at my humble car, which I had turned by my own backhacking, and pointed toward the wide road before we had alighted from it.

"There's some difference between the backs of the cars, sir," the chauffeur pointed out.

"I know that. There was the usual contempt in his tone and manner. "But that's not the way of the way you ought to be able to turn there. Go and tell her

The man hesitated, and Lillian, who had appeared to be utterly oblivious of the colloquy, though still oblivious of the colloquy, though still conscious from her task of piling steel for our fire, and spoke in a provokingly calm voice:

"You'll save time, young man, by remaining in your seat. Our car is wholly out of the road, not obstructing it in any sense. We certainly do not have the slightest objection to your traveling with us, as passengers, but under the present circumstances we must absolutely decline to touch it."

The drawl left her voice at a high pitch, and they were spoken with an accent that even I had its effect on the chauffeur. I had opened the door and put his foot upon the running board, but he drew in his foot, closed the door, and

"There's no reason to do but to back out," I know this road. It gets natural and more sandy further on." His employer looked more apologetic than ever.

A CONTROVERSY.

"Do I hire you to advise me or to obey me?" he roared. "You figure out some way of turning this thing around. Here, or you're fired with me at home."

With a little sarcasm twisted to his lips, but with no other break in his flow, he started a staccato comparison of chaffeur and chauffeur. He said that the mechanism in front of him was fumbled with it a second. The hub of the engine stopped at his once, a switch key in his hand, stepped on the ground, tipped his cap in more approved fashion, and held the key out to his red-faced employer.

"Then he said, sir, I prefer to quit now," he said.

The owner of the car glared at him in quivering rage of a minute.
Then he snatched the key from his hand and started it toward his son.

"Get this car out of here. Do it quick!" he snarled.

But I thought, though I thought detected a slight lowering of the young man's eyelids as he glanced across his father's shoulder toward his chauffeur. The man turned across, with apparent reluctance, when his back was well toward the people whose service he had just quitted, a grin of malicious amusement on his face. I had a sudden sudden, swift intuition that the owner of the car would not be able to stop the car, that the young man was perfectly aware of whatever little trick the chauffeur had contrived, and that his sympathies in the controversy were distinctly not with his father.

"LET'S GO OUT OF HERE."

"Ted gravely slipped into the chauffeur's seat, inserted the key in the switch, turned it, put his foot on the self-starter and listened to the buzzing. He waited vainly for the

"What have you done to this car? I'll have you arrested and send you to jail for a thousand years when you get out of here."

"I think you will have difficulty doing that, sir," the man replied. "The car was perfectly all right when I was running it. It's a complicated mechanism, sir, and has to be humored."

Whatever retort the owner of the car had on his tongue was drowned in a shrill, hysterical cry from the tonneau. The elderly woman was lying back against the cushion, beating the air with her hands and uttering cry after cry.

SPEAKER TELLS OF DEPRESSION IN TRADE WORLD Slump, He Says, Does Not Mean That Merchants Will Not Make Money.

"Making Advertising More Efficient" was the subject of the address delivered at noon today to the members of the San Francisco Advertising Club and their friends at the Palace hotel by Charles Henry Mackintosh, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, who is making a visit to 200 clubs.

Mackintosh told the assembled guests, about five hundred in all, that it will be twenty-five years before the present business depression will be over. He said that he based this conclusion on history.

"That does not mean, however, that we will not make money for twenty-five years," said Mackintosh. "Rather we will make more money, for the value of the dollar will gradually resume its pre-war status and with the readjustment of our salesmanship to fit the receding market we will increase our production."

Tollin C. Ayres, president of the Pacific Coast Association of Advertising Clubs, presided at the meeting. Prior to the luncheon Mackintosh was the guest of the hospitality bureau of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Last night Mackintosh was the guest of the board of directors of the San Francisco Advertising Club at the Palace hotel.

DANGER IN LACK OF RED CELLS
Weakened Blood a Debility: Gude's Pepto-Mangan Overcomes

Blood becomes feeble when there is a lack of red blood cells. Fatigue always causes the blood to collect waste matter from all parts of the body. In normal health, the blood is rich and a good nourishing meal the blood throws off the poisons and is restored to its normal condition. But when sleep is neglected and the waste matter from fatigue and overwork is not thrown off, the blood becomes weak and poisonous waste matter takes the place of red cells. Faces become pale, physical strength weakens, appetite is poor, and a phase of debility develops.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken steadily for a while makes blood rich and red. The red cells carry life-giving oxygen to the entire system and drive off the poisonous waste matter. Druggists sell Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. Take only the genuine, with the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package. Advertisement.

BLUE BIRD BUREAU OF THE TRIBUNE

There are many touching letters from old and young coming into the Bluebird department each day. Every one of these letters brings a pitiful appeal for aid, asking hopefully that some Goodfellow will see to it that the black despair and poverty are driven away and replaced with the warm, goodly spirit of Christmas. Practically all the letters are the same—requesting happiness—with the possible exception that some might appear more pathetic than others, and written in a different manner. But between the lines in each is a story—sad but too true—a story of want and unhappiness. The writers, many of whom are kiddies, want a Christmas, and they ask someone to help them get it.

GOODFELLOWS' CRANCE.
Now's your chance, GOODFELLOWS. It is your opportunity to make someone else happy. When you get up Christmas morning, or when you sit down to your Christmas dinner, will you be able to feel that Yuletide spirit if some family of children goes hungry and giftless when you could have helped them?

Here is a letter received from a poor mother of three babies, whose husband has deserted her.

Dear Bluebird: Will you please help me and my babies? I have three little ones. One is 6 years, one 3 years and one 18 months old.

My husband has left me and I cannot work and my babies are sick, and I am sick all the time. I would like some food and some clothes to keep them warm. I have got out of a sick bed. I was in bed for five weeks. I am sure you will help me and my babies. God knows I need help and some food. My husband has left me one year.

P. S.—I hope you will come and see me and my babies.

TWO YEARS' LIL LUCK.
Here is another:

Would some Goodfellow bring happiness to a family of three which has been in bad luck for the past two years. The man got disabled in the shipyard and for some reason or other has not been able to get any compensation. Now, he just wants to get on his feet, but work. The man is not able to do any hard work, as he is left lame, but he is always ready and willing. The only thing he could do is operate an elevator or be in an oil station where he could occasionally sit down.

If anyone is able to help this man get some place it would mean happiness not only for this Christmas, but probably forever and for the mother and a 2-year-old baby.

I will be glad to get word to this man if a Goodfellow will call Piedmont 845W.

THIEVES GET 30 GALLONS BOOZE IN DRUG STORE
Thieves entered the drugstore of Smith & Montz at 4029 Piedmont avenue last night and carried away a 30-gallon keg of high-grade whiskey. The robbers also took about $10 in small change from the cash register.

According to W. D. Smith the barrel of whiskey was delivered last night at 6 o'clock by the express company, and was to be sold on prescription. Smith believes that someone who was familiar with the premises and who knew of the shipment, being received, was responsible for the robbery.

This whiskey, at present bootleg prices, was valued around $400. The police and federal authorities were notified today of the robbery and are investigating. "They are working on the theory that the whiskey was taken by someone who knew of its arrival."

Make War Horrible, Is Professor's Advice
BERKELEY, DEC. 1.—Disarmament can never prevent future wars in the opinion of professor J. H. Hildebrand, former captain in the United States division of chemical warfare in France.

That science and civilization have reached the stage that makes warfare absurd was another statement of the professor in a concluding lecture to his class at the university.

The only way by which wars can be done away with, he said, was to make them so horrible that the people of the world would refuse to endure them.

"The world was badly disturbed, but in the war of tomorrow the personal security of every inhabitant of belligerent countries will be vitally affected."

"It is folly to adopt rules for 'civilized warfare.' They do not mean anything and result only in a costly realization of their futility."

Dr. Hildebrand predicted that if there was another great war it will be many times more horrible than the last and that airplane carrying explosives and deadly gases of high efficiency will bring the horrors of war home to every one residing in a warring country.

ASK THE TRIBUNE Bureau Information

"From what is the term moratorium revived and what does it mean?" queried a TRIBUNE reader recently.

Moratorium is from the Latin morare, to delay. A moratorium is an emergency legislative act authorizing a debtor or bank to suspend payment for a given period.

Another reader asks where she can obtain the bulletin referred to in a recent article by Edna Kinard in THE TRIBUNE, in which it was stated that the director of home economics in the Oakland public schools and chairman of the home economics department of the California Federation of Women's Clubs is answering questions of interest to club women.

The bulletin can be obtained by writing to Miss Florence Le Ganche, Chabot Hall, Oakland.

"When was the big storm in Galveston, Texas?" queried a TRIBUNE reader today.

The date of the big storm was September 8, 1900. Galveston has been visited by several other storms of less intensity since that time, including one in 1908 and one in 1915.

"Kindly inform me where the Charles Stewart Picture Productions company is located," requested another reader.

The studio adjoins the Home club at Itophish street and Park boulevard.

"Can tulips grow in flower pots?" asked another "Info Fan" recently.

They can.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature, except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day.

The bureau is open every day, except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quickest results can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask THE TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

HEARING SET ON TERMINAL RATES IN S. F.

Shippers and manufacturers of the Oakland industrial district will be present at the opening of the hearing in San Francisco on the restoration of terminal rates tomorrow. These shippers and manufacturers have been mustered by the traffic bureau of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to be prepared to testify in favor of the terminal rates.

The hearing will be held in the Merchants' Exchange building before William H. Disque, attorney-examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The rates were suspended because of war time conditions on the ground that there was no water competition with the railroads due to shipping being all attracted to the Atlantic and due to slides in the Panama Canal.

Spokane, Reno, Salt Lake City, Denver and other interior cities, which secured the suspension of the rates, are making a vigorous fight against their restoration.

The Pilgrims accused the owners of the Mayflower of being profiteers. Indian leader of the actual fighting in the attack on Custer's forces.

Dissected Songs Reveal Work Of Old Time Famous Composers

American Orchestra Director Gives Away Secrets of Song Writers.

Dissecting popular songs to show the audience how they're put together is the odd feat accomplished this week at the American by John Wharry Lewis, orchestra director and master composer, in a daring and original conception that has set local musical circles agog with interest.

Lewis takes his audience behind the scenes of "Tin Can Alley," as New York's street of music publishers is called, and shows in detail how easy it is to make a popular song—what one knows how. It's a secret the world hasn't told—it's been carefully guarded, but Lewis takes the audience into his confidence.

For instance, he plays Tchaikovsky's famous "Romance in E-flat major." Then, a little syncopation, a slight alteration, and the audience finds it transformed into "Bright Eyes." The "Funtale Impromptu," by Chopin, when changed into tempo, yields "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows." The "Song of India," fox trot, turns out to be part of a symphony, syncopated. The Chopin "Minute Waltz" changes to a musical comedy hit, with just a few bars altered.

That's the trick of it—the secret of many a best seller in music. They're just classics popularized, that's why they're so popular.

The Lewis feature is a stellar attraction in a notable bill that includes Lon Chaney in "Gouverneur Morris," sensational tale, "Ace of Hearts," and Max Linder, "The Charlie Chaplin of France," a screaming comedy, "De My Wife," under the famous "Max" of the old time Pathé, in just a few minutes as funny as of yore, in an American studio and an American play, as the hilarious crowds at the American theater.

Charlie Tells of N. Y. Party; Meets George, Poet, Dreamer

This is the fourth installment of Charlie Chaplin's Own Story, which started in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE Sunday. Yesterday he told of the New York garden party that made him sad.

bit and then agree to disagree on some things, and let it go at that and remain friends.

I have lunch next day with Max Eastman, one of my best friends. He is a radical and a poet and editor of The Liberator. A charming and sympathetic fellow who thinks I don't quite agree with all his doctrines, but that makes no difference in our friendship. We get together, argue a bit and then agree to disagree on some things, and let it go at that and remain friends.

He tells me of a party that he is giving at his home that evening and I hasten to accept his invitation to attend. His home is always interesting. His friends likewise.

What a night it was for me! I got out of myself. My emotions went the gamut of tears to laughter without artificiality. It was what I had left Los Angeles for, and that night Charlie Chaplin seemed very far away and I felt or wanted to feel myself just a simple soul among other souls.

I was introduced to George, an ex-I. W. W. secretary. I suppose he has a last name but I didn't know it, and it didn't seem to matter when one met George. Here was a real personality. He had a light in his eyes that I have never seen before, a light that must have come from his soul. He had the look of one who believes he is right and has the courage of his convictions. It is a scarce article.

I learned that he had been sentenced by Judge Landis to serve twenty years in the penitentiary; that he had served two years and was out because of ill health. It did not seem to matter.

A dreamer and a poet, he became wistfully gay on this hectic night among kindred spirits. In a mixed crowd of intellectuals he stood out.

He was going back to serve eighteen years in the penitentiary and was remaining jovial. What an ordeal. But ordeal signifies what it would have been for me. I don't believe it bothered him. I hardly believe he was there. He was somewhere else, in the place from which that look in his eyes emanated. A man whose ideals are ideals.

I pass no opinion, but with such charm one must sympathize.

It was an amusing evening. We play charades and I watch George acting. It is all sorts of fun. We dance a bit.

Then George comes in imitating Woodrow. It is screamingly funny and he throws himself into the character or caricature, making Wilson seem absurdly ridiculous. We are convulsed with laughing.

But all the time I can't help thinking that he must go back to the penitentiary for eighteen years.

What a party!

It doesn't break up until 2 in the morning, though clock or calendar, didn't get a thought from me.

We all played, danced and acted. No one asked me to walk away; no one asked me to twirl a cane. If I wanted to do a tragic bit, I did, and so did everyone else. You were a creature of the present, not a production of the past, not a promise of the future. You were accepted "as is," sans "Who's Who" labels and income-tax records.

George asks me about my trip, but he does not interview. He gives me letters to George Bernard Shaw and others. They are great friends.

In my puny way, sounding hollow and unconvincing, I try to tell George how foolish he is. He tries to explain that he can't help it. Like all traitors he is a martyr. He does not rant. He blames no one. He does not rail at fate.

If he believes himself persecuted his belief is unspoken. His viewpoint is beautiful, kind and tender. I can't imagine what he has done to be sentenced to twenty years.

My thought must speak. He believes he is spoiling my party though making me serious. He doesn't want that. He stops talking about himself.

Suddenly he runs, grabs a woman's hat and says, "Look, Charlie, I'm Sarah Bernhardt," and goes into a most ridiculous travesty.

I laugh. Everyone laughs. George laughs.

And he is going back to the penitentiary to spend eighteen of the most wonderful years of his life.

I can't stand it. I go out in the garden and gaze up at the stars. It is a wonderful night and a glorious moon is shining down. I wish there was something I could do for George. I wonder if he is right or wrong.

Before long George joins me. He is sad and reflective, but it is a sadness of beauty, not of regret. He looks at the moon, the stars. He contemplates how stupid to the party, any party, compared to the loveliness of the night! The silence that is a universal gift. How few of us enjoy it. Perhaps because it cannot be bought. Rich

It's Charlie CHARLIE CHAPLIN, as you have thought him, but see how he's changed in the accompanying article men buy noise. Souls revel in nature's silences. They cannot be denied those who seek them. We talk of George's future. Not of his past nor of his offense. Can't he escape? I try to make him think logically toward regaining his freedom. I want to pledge my help. He doesn't understand, or pretends not to. He has not lost anything. Bars cannot imprison his spirit.

I beg him to give himself and his life a better chance.

He smiles.

"Don't bother about me, Charlie. You have your work. Go on making the world laugh. Yours is a great task and a splendid one. Don't bother about me."

"We are silent. I am choked up. I feel a sort of pent-up helplessness. I want relief. It comes."

The tears roll down my cheeks and George embraces me.

There are tears in both our eyes. "Good-by, Charlie."

"Good-by, George."

What a party! Its noise disgusts me. Eighteen years! I call my car. I go back to the Ritz.

George goes back to the "pen!"

OAKLAND TO BUILD NEW STOREHOUSE

A new municipal storehouse will be built immediately, either at the foot of Water street or Franklin street, for the storing of all materials for the harbor department.

This was announced today by Commissioner A. R. Carter, who says that harbor materials are now "scattered from San Leandro to Berkeley," when they ought to be centralized.

"We will start work immediately on the shed," says Carter. "It will not be a costly shed but plenty big enough to store the city's materials. We are losing time and money because harbor materials are not centralized or properly stored. From now on we're going to know where things are."

The necessary appropriation will be made by the city council in a few days.

Three Held in Death Probe

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Death under unusual circumstances early today of J. Lloyd Williams, 30 years old, an overseas veteran, at the Hotel Arlington, 480 Ellis street, led the police to hold three men for investigation. They are Harry Sullivan and Wallace Fletcher of 325 O'Farrell street and Frank Miller of 515 O'Farrell street. Dr. Clark, autopsy surgeon, performed a post-mortem to determine the cause of Williams' death.

According to the story told the police by the three men, they were walking on Ellis street near Jones early yesterday. They met Williams, who they thought was intoxicated. In trying to edge away from them on the sidewalk, they said, Williams stumbled and fell, staggering to the pavement and striking his head on the car track. According to the police, the men claimed to have picked him up, taking him to his room, and after placing him on the bed, departed. Late last night George West, night clerk, heard Williams moaning and called in Dr. C. F. Farwell, who expressed the opinion that Williams' skull had been fractured, and he was taken to the central emergency hospital, where he died today.

Olin S. Grove—for the Advancement of Music

An Edison from OLIN S. GROVE Phonograph Shop

the Christmas Gift Supreme

THERE is a distinction in the Olin S. Grove service behind the Edison that adds a greater degree to the satisfaction and pleasure that the family will derive from this wonderful musical instrument. Give them an Edison from this beautiful shop.

The Wonder of Owning a NEW EDISON

This new instrument must not be confused with the ordinary phonographs. For instance, its realism is perfect. Living music and Re-Created music on the Edison can not be told apart, even when heard in direct comparison. No other phonograph sustains this test. The Edison brings music in all its original power and effectiveness. Thus it enables you to utilize the wonderful benefits of music—to soothe yourself when nervous, refresh yourself when tired, cheer yourself when sad.

Such results are, of course, undreamed of by the ordinary phonograph. They place the Edison in an entirely different category.

The Edison Plays Every Make of Record

To grasp the true distinction between the New Edison and other phonographs, hear them in the same room. Hear Rachmaninoff, the great Russian pianist, on the New Edison. Then listen to the talking-machine version of his playing. Do the same with recordings of other instruments of delicate and distinctive tone—violin, harp, xylophone, and banjo. With the human voice, from bass to soprano, the difference is equally clear.

The New Edison, in literal truth, brings all of music the living artist can bring.

OUR CHRISTMAS DEPOSIT PLAN

For $..... (fill in your own first payment) we will deliver the New Edison of your choice to your Christmas tree. As long as the amount you name is sufficient to indicate good faith, we shall accept it as an initial deposit. Pay no more till next year. Then arrange the balance to suit your convenience. Why wait another year? This plan makes it possible to give the family a real New Edison this year.

OAKLAND PLANS FOR EDUCATION DEMONSTRATED

"Open House" Draws Citizens From All Sections to See Pupils' Work.

With a spirit of "open house" prevailing at every school in the city and with the desire to show the public what has been accomplished by Oakland's school system and what is necessary to make it more effective, the third day of American education week—observed by schools and educators throughout the country—got under way here today. The period will close Saturday.

Later today it was estimated that thousands of parents and others had visited the schools and viewed the numerous demonstrations and entertainments, getting in-hand information of the city's educational system and its progress.

At the University of the Pacific, the school was enthusiastically today over the interest displayed by pupils, teachers and the public in the local activities and desired that to the end of the week, has been a big success.

ALL HOPES SURPASSED. "The results of education week even this far, have been even more successful than we hoped for," said Hunter today.

In good deal of the pupils, teachers and the school system in general, and I am very much pleased at the spirit of interest displayed by the public. The results of this week will unquestionably mean a great deal to the city's educational system. We are accomplishing what we hoped to do—illustrate what has been accomplished and what is needed to broaden the scope.

In several schools, but particularly at the Peralta building, Mothers' clubs are taking a major part in the observance of the week. They will visit the Peralta school tomorrow afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock, viewing all of the different working departments.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Cleveland school a program of music, both choral and orchestral, will be presented. At the Berkeley school a patriotic assembly will be addressed by members of the American Legion.

TALKS ON AMERICANS. An American Legion member will address pupils of the Hawthorne school on the subject of patriotic exercises. The students will present one minute talks of ten great Americans, illustrating each talk with stereopticons.

At the Alameda school, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, will stage a moving picture show both for amusement and for information concerning the work of the school. The "American Bank and Merchants" bank, will tell of the meaning of thrift in a community. McChesney school led the elementary schools of the city recently in a drive for children's bank deposits.

The school children of Oakland have over twenty-four thousand dollars deposited in Oakland savings accounts. Along with the banking and the thrift program goes singing and other features of regular entertainment.

Charles Schilling addressed pupils of the Alexander Hamilton Junior High school on "English Language" at the program at that school today. Tomorrow Ruth Wood will speak on "Immigration," and on Friday Isabel Frost will lecture on "Naturalization." Mothers' day will be celebrated at the school tomorrow. The program will include music and games.

Two programs, one for the upper grades and another for the lower classes will be the Grant school's contribution to the observance of the week. The program for the upper grades was presented today and consisted of a picture of the great industries of the country. Tomorrow the lower grades will observe the patriotic program and tell about Puritan and pioneer life and of the American flag.

"Open house" is in effect at the Alameda school. Thirty-eight street and Penniman avenue, at this week. Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock Wade Snook of the American Legion will address a community meeting of parents in the school's assembly hall. Exhibits of work by the manual training, domestic science and art departments and work done by the grades will be displayed.

CITIZENSHIP CLASSES. Citizenship classes, with a view to overcoming illiteracy, one of the greatest problems of the school system and of the immigration policy, are being conducted at various schools under the direction of Louis B. Avery, assistant superintendent of schools. The American Legion is also aiding in this work. Instructions in Americanism are being given to new students of foreign birth, representing fifty-four nationalities. Several classes were addressed by Legion members today and others will be visited by the ex-servicemen tomorrow.

EDUCATIONAL WORK. Being observed in San Francisco mainly by patriotic exercises and the value of American citizenship is being impressed upon the minds of foreign pupils. American Legion speaking teams are making a tour of all school buildings and addressing the students and public exercises are being conducted in the city hall and other public buildings. Tomorrow afternoon naturalization proceedings will be held in Judge Morgan's court in the San Francisco city hall, and in the morning exercises will be held by the R. O. C. American Legion ceremonies will take place in the rotunda of the city hall tomorrow night.

Open House Program At Technical High

Today and tomorrow is "open house" at the Technical High school. The plan to invite the parents of the pupils and the general public was inaugurated in connection with Education Week, now being observed in the schools.

Throughout the day hundreds of visitors were taken through the school. The program is in charge of the students. Tomorrow the day will be spent in a debate between members of the debating team on the question, "Resolved, That the Day After Tomorrow the world will be a better place to live in." The debate will be held in the city hall and will be served by the city hall. The debate will be conducted by the city hall.

Art Is Vital Need, Asserts City Director

The following is the first of a series of articles on school work, prepared for THE TRIBUNE by leaders of various departments of the Oakland public schools, which will be published during Education Week.

SCHOOL ART
By MISS MAY SELENDER
(Director of Art in Oakland Public Schools)

To get a thing done is necessary, to get a thing done beautifully is art. Man has to be governed in this life by both art and necessity. The earliest cave-man in the world, who may be believed to have been driven hardest by necessity, when you realize that he competed for a living with the saber-tooth and the elephant and all the other living creatures of that period, this earliest cave-man still had to have art in his life to make him happy, because he drew pictures, and colored them, and made earrings, and reined them. And now by the way the saber-tooth and the mammoth elephant are extinct but the art-productions of the cave-man are still in the world, and which he made of his cave wall—are living today.

The public schools of today, which are teaching the modern dependence of the cave-man, cannot neglect art in education. It is a necessity now as it was then.

It was sung by the pupils in the school auditorium. It will be offered again on Friday night.

An invitation has been extended to the parents of the pupils and to the public in general to pay the school a call tomorrow and learn of the workings of the institution.

Berkeley Teachers Plan Fine Program

BERKELEY, Dec. 7.—In observance of American Education Week, a special meeting of the Berkeley Teachers' Association will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the high school auditorium.

An appropriate program will be presented to lay the aims of the week's observations before the teaching body and general public. Speakers will include Professor W. B. Herma, president of the board of education, and Professor J. H. Hildebrand, both of the university faculty.

Miss May C. Wade, president of the Berkeley Teachers' association, will preside. Following is the program to be given: "America, the Beautiful," community singing, accompanied by high school orchestra; "La Marseillaise," high school orchestra; J. Leon Rudick, conductor; address, "Democratic Education," Professor W. B. Herma, member American Legion; "When the Boys Come Home," vocal solo, Mrs. J. S. Mills; address, "The Training of Citizens," Professor J. H. Hildebrand, member American Legion; "America," community singing.

"DEAR JUDGE" NO HELP WHEN MAN FACES CHARGES

Police Judge Mortimer Smith objects to having prisoners addressing him as "dear judge." This morning Manuel A. Reposa, charged with failure to provide for his minor child said "dear judge" when explaining why he did not support his 9-year-old child.

He was given the choice of going to jail or supporting his child. "I won't do you any good to say 'dear judge' to me. I will give you your choice. Which do you choose?" said Judge Smith.

"I will support the child just as soon as I get work," replied Reposa.

"There is no soon about it. Will you support the child or do you want to go to jail?" said the judge.

"I will support the child," said Reposa.

He was ordered by the court to pay $20 a month for the support of the child. The first payment is to be made one week from today.

In 1832 England had 25 first line battleships of the day.

Burn Bodies and Scatter Ashes, Requests in Wills

Two wills unique in the history of the probate departments were filed in the Oakland and San Francisco today.

Edward P. Fish, late of Alameda county man, requests that his ashes be thrown to the winds from the Cliff House, while the late Philip Marmaduke Partridge requests that his ashes be scattered in the form of a cloth over his son's grave.

Fish's will was executed on April 30, 1918. He died on July 10, 1921. The will is written by Fish's own hand and begins: "In the name of God, Amen, I, Edward P. Fish, being in good bodily health and of sound and disposing mind and memory, and being desirous of setting my worldly affairs while I have strength and capacity to do so, make this my last will and testament. First I commend my immortal being to Him who gave it, and my body to be disposed of as follows: To be cremated and my ashes to be scattered from the Cliff House or to any elevated point above the ocean and there scattered to the winds. I suggest this method of disposing of my remains so that I may no longer be in the way of my family, and that they may no longer be burdened to the living, and that I may the sooner be forgotten."

ESTATE GOES TO WIFE. Fish, whose estate is appraised at $50,000, left a family home, furniture and furnishings to his wife during her lifetime, to become the property of his son Harold Rudy Fish, upon his mother's death. His personal effects, including his desk and office furniture, are bequeathed to his son, whom he also named executor without bond.

Mrs. Amanda H. Carlin of 405 Richmond street, city sister of the late Philip Marmaduke Partridge, 75 years old, who died a week ago, filed Marmaduke's will in San Francisco. Mrs. Carlin is the executrix of Partridge's estate. His request in part reads: "That if he dies in San Francisco, he be cremated at Woodlawn cemetery. That no wood be placed in the incinerator and that he be laid there in nude. That there be no casket and that he be taken in that condition to the cemetery."

SISTER TO PRAY. If the law should require, however, that some covering be placed upon a redwood box exactly 6 feet long, 18 inches wide, 16 inches high with the top screwed on with No. 8 screws and with no trimming whatever. Partridge allows her to take a bundle of his children and that a pair of apron strings be tied neatly in a bow over his eyes.

He asks that his sister, Mrs. Carlin, allow her to take his ashes to the cemetery at St. Helena where his son is buried and there scattered in the form of a cloth over the son's grave.

This estate consists of $5000 in cash, the 5000 left in the bank, and thirds of which is left to a surviving son, living at Raymond, Cal., and one-third to the Seventh Day Adventists.

SPEEDERS TUNE UP FOR EVENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—"Youth will be served," was again "choed" late yesterday afternoon at the new San Francisco race track, San Carlos, when Harry Hartz, juvenile speed king of six years ago, when as a lad in short pants he won the exhibition in a cycle car race at the exposition.

His French Grand Prix eight-cylinder car and swept around the board oval at a speed of 116 miles an hour, nearly three miles an hour faster than the fastest record Hartz astounded the race birds by surpassing the marks set by Ralph DePalma, famed Italian, and his French Grand Prix minutes previously. Both drivers are favored to win a big share of the $25,000 purse hung up in the International Sweepstakes to be run next Sunday.

"Little Jimmy" Murphy, a San Francisco, who won the French Grand Prix last August, was on the San Carlos track early this morning to get his car tuned up for a series of record trials he is to make before the race. The racing race, T. Milton, Roscoe, S. L. Thomas, and Art Klein were also giving the race birds a lot of thrills shortly after breakfast time. Milton showed speed with a new car which, is being tipped as the gas chariot to watch on Sunday.

Barney Oldfield, daddy of the racing pupils, who will pace the first lap of the sweepstakes in addition to driving an exhibition in the old "999" racer on the 20th anniversary of his first race in the first car built by Henry Ford, will have charge of the practice periods until the day of the race. Referee William T. Nelson will be at the track each afternoon to look the drivers over and to caution them against infraction of the rules. Lester Manning, a Californian, will act as starter.

The track and grandstand are fully completed and were yesterday turned over by the constructor, Jack Prince, to Vice President W. J. Loring of the Speedway association.

CANADIANS VOTE FOR RECIPROCITY; MELIGHEN BEATEN

W. L. Mackenzie King Wins Premiership; Educated in United States.

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—Although returns from yesterday's general election were still incomplete today it was apparent for the first time in ten years Canada had elected a parliament with a majority favoring reciprocity with the United States.

In the new house, W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, will have a clear majority over all parties and will become dominion prime minister, succeeding Arthur Meighen.

The Progressives, also favoring reciprocity and a low tariff, will rank second, and the high tariff party, headed by Melighen, third. Meighen himself was defeated in Pictou, N. S. Three provinces, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, returned solid Liberal contingents. Ontario, regarded as the fortress of conservatism and protection, showed a Liberal gain of more than 20 seats.

The new Progressive party, led by T. A. Crerar of Manitoba, swept the western provinces. The Liberal platform asked that goods from British countries be given preferential tariff treatment and demanded that the following articles be placed on the free list:

"Wheat, wheat flour and all products of wheat; the principal articles of food, farm implements and farm tractors; mining, flour and saw mill machinery and repair parts thereof; rough and dressed lumber; gasoline, illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils, news, net twines and fishermen's equipments; cement and fertilizers."

He holds post-graduate degrees from the University of Chicago and Harvard. He was minister of labor for Canada for eight years in the Laurier government.

Talking Film Is Invented At College

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
URBANA, Ill., Dec. 7.—A discovery which "it seems possible" will make the movies of the future talk, was announced by the University of Illinois today. The basic patents of the invention are held by the institution.

The scientific discovery is that of an extremely sensitive and reliable photo-electric cell made about two years ago in the physical laboratory of the university by Professor Jakob Kunz," says the announcement.

The photo-electric cell is a device for turning flashes of light into electric pulses and is so sensitive that it reacts to light from stars which cannot be seen with the naked eye. A second film is used on the same spindle as the moving picture film, on which are photographed various curves and openings corresponding to words which are to accompany the pictures. A beam of light sent through this film falls upon the photograph cell. It is thus possible to get variations in electric current by letting the beam of light from a speech photograph film fall upon such a cell. These variations act in a telephone to reproduce speech.

Kunz' photo-electric cell, in transforming light waves into electric pulses responds immediately to a light wave even after hours and days of use.

The cell was used with some success by a Swedish scientist, but Dr. Kunz's cell is declared by the university announcement to be far more sensitive and promises to give the perfect photo-phones of the future.

HAYWARD MAN TO FIGHT SENTENCE BY RAIL BOARD

William S. Van Hoosear of Hayward, sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or spend thirty days, including Christmas, in prison, has determined to question the power of the State Railroad Commission, which prescribed this punishment, and today appealed to the Supreme Court. He asks for a writ of prohibition restraining the commission from enforcing its judgment against him. The hearing will be held tomorrow morning before the court in San Francisco.

Van Hoosear is the first citizen to be punished for contempt by the Railroad Commission since its organization. He operated a small water works at Hayward and was brought before the commission after cutting off the supply of certain residents of Castro Valley.

A. R. Polsky, a former consumer, requested the commission to compel Van Hoosear to furnish him water and he was ordered to do so. He appealed to the Supreme Court and lost. He again was ordered to give service and when he paid no attention, was held before the commission and found guilty of contempt of its mandates.

DIVORCE DECREE GIVEN JEWELER VOIDED BY COURT

Appeal Bench Reverses Decision in Suit Filed in S. F. by Harry Bullard.

Harry Bullard, jeweler, 1758 Seventh street, who obtained a divorce decree from Minnie Grace Bullard, in Superior Judge Campbell's court in San Francisco recently on a cross-complaint, finding himself today safely married again as the result of a reversal of the case by the District Court of Appeal. Lack of evidence is given as the reason for the court setting aside the interlocutory decree granted against the wife, Mrs. Minnie Grace Bullard.

Mrs. Bullard originally sought separate maintenance. Her husband promptly filed a cross-complaint asking an absolute divorce and alleging that she had called offensive names. The court holds today that there was not sufficient testimony to justify the giving of the divorce to the wife, and in so doing, reversing the decree.

In contesting her husband's suit on the other hand, Mrs. Bullard had charged that the jeweler paid ardent attention to a certain Miss Miller and that he took Mrs. Miller from her home in Berkeley to the motel on one occasion and returning in an automobile he parked in a secluded section on Sixty-seventh street, and remained with lights darkened for twenty minutes about midnight.

It develops that Mrs. Bullard had had her husband followed and she presented these allegations in the contest. The court rejected the evidence.

F. H. Dan was counsel for Mrs. Bullard in her appeal to the higher court.

These subscription receipt lucky numbers will be selected every day at random from TRIBUNE subscription receipts that are issued during this month, beginning with December 1, 1923, by the Circulation Department, at our main office, branch offices, and by our subscription collectors who call regularly at the homes of TRIBUNE subscribers in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. Every prize will be worth while; the prizes will vary every day—they will be of interest and value to man, woman and child. So when you pay your TRIBUNE subscription bill, remember the number of your receipt—and watch THE TRIBUNE Christmas Tree Prize List every day from now on.

Your receipt number may appear once—or a dozen times—if you are lucky—so do not overlook checking up the list a single day.

ROBERTS AND EMMAL TURN MATCH MAY BE FEATURE CONTEST

Fitting Young Men Will Entertain the Tomors at Mr. Simpson's Hit Party.

By BOB SHAND

Allister, one of the cleverest middleweights of a few years ago, was a young man who was careless enough to take a chance. Gibbons when Mike was good, thinks Harold Emmal, an Olympic Club boxer, has a bright future. Bob is not imagining the San Francisco youngster, although he goes in and tells him to smack the other gent and not let the smack him, but Robert says he is not a bit partial or anything like that. "That kid's style makes me en," said Robert today. "He handles himself like a veteran. The fact that he has fought but twice in the four-round boxing draw with Johnny Hurns in his first start and at Robert's last week when he committed a foul. He is again at the auditorium and watch for some more. I've had the lad in the gymnasium wising him to a and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if he put a knock-out Joe this evening."

But Robert's doubts about Roberts' ability to fight were not lessened when he learned something and will take no chances a foul tonight. He thinks a team in high enough to should Roberts jump the still be fair.

Another Golf Course May Be Built Here

William Watson Consulted on Project by Local Enthusiasts.

By W. D. McNICOLL. William Watson, golf course architect, was in town yesterday in consultation about another new course for Oakland. Irving L. Kahn, Harry Camp and Mervin J. Samuels, are the moving spirits in this new enterprise. An option has been secured on a picturesque site for an up-to-date 18-hole course. The soil is ideal and the ground rolling without being too hilly. Water in abundance can be had close to the links, which will be within easy distance of the city.

Watson's plans for the new San Francisco Municipal links will include four practice driving holes, a 9-hole short course for masha practice and a putting course near the clubhouse. The course will measure between 6100 and 6500 yards. The first nine holes will occupy the center of the course with the ninth hole back at the starting point. The last holes will form a complete circle round the first. The 18th hole, a dog leg will give the players a long view of the course as a part of Merced Lake will have to be carried from the tee.

In addition to laying out the new city links Watson has been asked to make minor alterations and improvements at Lincoln park. The Olympic Club also wants its new course constructed as soon as possible. At present there are 3 holes inland and 3 towards the ocean but Watson's plans call for an 18-hole inland course and an 18-hole ocean course. This means considerable re-arranging from the present lay out but alterations will be carried out without much interruption to the present course. The last, but not least, Burlingame Country Club wants its course modernized and extended to something like championship length.

John Black and Abe Espinoza were out at Sepulchre last Saturday, having a little team work practice in the field. Their challenge match with Jack Hutchinson and Jim Barnes, the British and American open champions, John and Abe both had long tee shots at the first reaching the water hazard. The water hazard 80 yards short of the green. Both picked up at different holes going out so no actual scores were kept. Black came in 22, which represents excellent golf over the course in its winter condition.

Willie Hunter, the British amateur golf champion, went round the course of the San Francisco club yesterday with Earl T. Carroll, Jack Neville and William McCann. The victor did not beat par on any hole but he turned in a score of 77. Over the 36 holes Hunter had a score of 160.

Santa Clara to Meet Livermore Saturday Eve

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, Dec. 7.—Coach Altomeroch, who will have his opportunity of sizing up the strength of his "hoop artists" on Saturday evening at Livermore, today made his first trip to the city. He is charged with the task of seeing that the speedy Oakland quintet, the "Hoos", who have been offered "Shore" an opportunity of working out in the inexperienced hopefuls, and at the present time the squad numbers twenty. Daily scrimmages have been the order, and as the competition for all positions is keen, the sessions were not without interest. The fight for the center job has been narrowed down to two contestants, Jimmy McGlinchey of last year's Livermore champion team, and "Pikies" Heinemann who last year departed himself on the Campbell high team, which was selected by team from Salinas to San Francisco only to succumb to Berkeley. McGlinchey, although "Shore" seems to have the inside track to the "up-off" position, still the work of Heinemann has been of such a high order, that the Livermore star has been forced to extend himself, to obtain the slightest advantage which he now holds.

FIGHT FOR POSITIONS. The fight for the guard and forward positions borders in keen, and although quite a few aspirants have taken the count still a sufficient number are still standing, and the battle is so close that a verdict is not forthcoming in the favor of any, to the exclusion of the rest. The fight for the first guard seems to be narrowed down to five ambitious and optimistic defense men, Captain Tom, this year's captain, "Pat" Ferraro, skipper of last year's team, Moore, Fawke, who barely missed making his block last year; Tom Bannan, a veteran of three years' competition, and "Whitney" Dunsen, who occupied the position of running guard for the forsook Campbell, aggregation last year. However, the work of no preference in the stationing of any of these five men as yet, and probably along on the theory that if he lets them tangle and oppose themselves, he may constantly switched them about.

FORWARDS FLORE. At forward, practically the same problem confronts the energetic little mentor from Livermore—half a dozen good men and only two positions in which they can be placed. Joe has a wealth of material to select from for the forward positions, but it is probable that when the whistle for the first game is blown, that either Yukota and Manelli, Logan and Kunka, or Manelli and Logan will constitute the forward combination for the "Hoos". However, the work of Johnny Concoconello of Santa Clara, and "Pete" Driscoll of last year's Freshman team, who both such high class as to elicit praise from the coach. Taking it all in all, the "Hoos" are in a position to be fair to be a winner, and one that will pay the other teams to watch.

Sturdy Boxers Ready for Action

Meet the two young men who will box the main event at the Auditorium this evening. On the right is BUCK HOLLEY, who is the reigning sensation in the middleweight ranks. The other athlete is SAL CARLO, who used to reign supreme among the 158-pounders. They will battle for the championship of North Beach, the Potrero, South San Francisco and Mill Valley.

Seven Battles On the Card at Auditorium

HERE is the fistic menu that will be dished up at the auditorium tonight: Buck Holley vs. Sal Carlo; Harold Emmal vs. Joe Roberts; Eddie White vs. Johnny Lotsey; Willie Curry vs. Tommy Cello; Frankie McCann vs. Pete Daley; Angelo Silva vs. Jimmy Kelsey; Frankie Thomas vs. Tom Comiskey.

Heinie Groh to Cavort With J. McGraw's Giants

Reds Get Burns, Gonzales and Sack of Coin in Exchange.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.

United Press Staff Correspondent. BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 7.—The men around the lobby, conference room today might be led to believe that the National League pennant race next year is in. Bright lights of the majors and the high minds of the minors today, the opinion that John McGraw's purchase of Heinie Groh, the Cincinnati third baseman, on the next pennant, is a headlock on the next pennant. Wise baseball heads, however, did not agree on the business sagacity of a deal whereby the New York Giants gave a valuable outfielder, George Burns, a fair catcher, Mike Gonzales, and a sum reported around $100,000 for a player who has no more than four or five years ahead of him and no great drawing power at the gate. The Giants did not announce the cash handed over with the two players, but it is known, however, that Garry Herrmann, owner of the Reds told the Chicago Cubs that he wanted $150,000 for his star and that Bill Killefer, club manager, said he wasn't worth it and refused to entertain a deal.

Some outfielders also were expressed that the deal would not be good for the National League. Many of the American League were also taking issue with M. H. Sexton, president of the National Association, who laid stress on the need of re-trenchment.

Most of the club owners said that baseball men made money last season all over the "high league" territory and that the game is not on, or near, the rocks.

In addition to the Groh deal, Cincinnati secured shortstop Jimmy Cavanaugh from the San Francisco club in exchange for Pitchers Coumbe, Branton and Geary and an outfielder. It was announced also that Jack Coughlin, who managed the Los Angeles club last year, had signed a contract to direct the Hartford club of the Eastern League.

George McBride Quits Job With Senators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Resignation of George McBride as manager of the Washington American League baseball club was announced today by Clark Griffith, club president. Ill health caused the resignation, Griffith said, but McBride will remain as a scout.

HOW TO PLAY GOLF

by JESSE P. GUILFORD AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPION OF THE UNITED STATES

GOLF TEMPERAMENT. We hear a great deal about the temperament suited to golf, and about the mental handicaps which some golfers have to overcome. I confess that at one time I thought such talk was all nonsense but lately I have reached the conclusion that there is such a thing as a temperament suited to golf, and temperament absolutely unsuited to the game.

We all know what it is to meet in competition the man whose game we have always feared. We learn the hard lessons of the morning. At last we meet this particular man in the morning. Perhaps the tournament is of sufficient importance to make us desire very much to defeat him. It happens in an equal battle that man or perhaps it is only a matter of personal vanity which makes us very desirous of winning him. At last we meet this particular man in the morning. Perhaps the tournament is of sufficient importance to make us desire very much to defeat him. It happens in an equal battle that man or perhaps it is only a matter of personal vanity which makes us very desirous of winning him.

CONFIDENCE MAY BE HANDICAP. Then again, if we carry confidence too far it is as much a handicap as lack of confidence. I remember distinctly a match in which playing badly taught me the lesson of a lifetime. I started out in the morning with an idea that nothing could defeat me. It happened that I was to meet a man who played a very good game of golf. All of a sudden I started to play badly. I was so sure of myself that I never could be defeated. I was so sure of myself that I never could be defeated.

CONTROL TEMPER. The man who bursts into a fit of temper after a poorly executed shot should not be excused on the grounds that he is a victim of golf temper. Fortunately, we find this mostly in young players, and they usually learn to control it. The man who is too nervous to play, because he is afraid of making a mistake, is also a victim of golf temper. WHAT WILL SEATTLE OWNERS DO WITH BILL 'KOPECKS' KENWORTHY

Meusel's Reply to Landis Decision May Put Him Further in Wrong with the Judge

By EDDIE MURPHY.

With Charley Pick chosen as manager of the Sacramento Coyotes, three more jobs of the same kind in the Pacific Coast League remain open, and in the last few days a couple of angels cropped up to make a lot of the members of the "Manager Picking League" predict that Bill Kenworthy will not be at the head of the Seattle or Portland ball clubs. Some time ago it was hinted that Kenworthy wanted to get away from Seattle so he could take up the management of the Portland Beavers for the same owners with which he was with at Seattle. The truth to that report leaked out yesterday with the story from the Buffalo meeting that Kenworthy had been denied his release which he requested from the Seattle club. Unless the owners of the Seattle club now want to be good to Kenworthy and let him have his release so he can join the Beavers, Bill may find things very unpleasant in the Hilly City of the Northwest.

The question which is now worrying the friends of Bill Kenworthy is, will he be the manager of the Seattle Indians next season? They do not know for the reason that Billy got him out of the club in the present owners of the Seattle club. The present owners of the Seattle club are the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs. Bill's friends fear that the Seattle owners will appoint a new manager and just hold onto Kenworthy as a regular member of the team.

Coast League May Have Seven Playing Managers. Within the next week, the managers of the Seattle, Portland and San Francisco clubs should be announced. The fact that all three clubs stated a short while ago that they hoped to make the announcement immediately after the close of the meeting at Buffalo, there is no report that the San Francisco club may not have a new manager after all and that Charley Pick will again direct the club from the bench.

However, it begins to look like the Pacific Coast League is again favoring playing managers and that more than half the clubs in the league will boast of their own managers. Charley Pick, already selected as "Red" Killefer is another playing manager with the Angels. If Seattle is after a playing manager, it can be had and so are the Portland and San Francisco owners. Lewis is another playing manager who will be a Salt Lake owner if the Seals leave, and Indiana draw playing managers, Vernon will be the only club in the league which will be directed by the bench and that directing will be done by Bill Kenworthy.

Bobby Meusel Is Adding Fuel to the Fire. Bobby Meusel, former Pacific Coast league star is adding coal oil to the fire which he has been kindling. Bobby Meusel, former Pacific Coast league star is adding coal oil to the fire which he has been kindling.

O'Connell Sold To the Giants; Reports 1923 BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 7.—Lead Jimmy O'Connell of the San Francisco club in the Pacific Coast league has been bought by Manager J. J. McGraw of the New York Giants. It was announced here today. The price paid for the infielder was $7500.

O'Connell will play with the San Francisco team next season, joining the Giants in 1923. The Giants are said to have paid $75,000 for O'Connell.

At the business sessions of the major leagues today a move was being made to bring about the inclusion of a clause in the major league agreement under which the former can come into a class A. A city, take over the plant and team and an appraisal value made make it a major league city.

"Bus" Cleary will probably twist again with Captain Lawrence Heller resting up until the big game with Hayward.

Bobby is playing with fire.

JAPANESE GIRL TO BE VALEDICTORIAN
AT OAKLAND HIGH

Yuki Furuta's Choice Is Approved by Graduates With Only One Dissenting.

Yuki Furuta, honor student at the Oakland high school, will be the class valedictorian at the commencement exercises in the auditorium on January 20.

This decision was arrived at last evening at a meeting of the members of the senior class, twenty-eight of whom had previously signed a petition addressed to Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter asking that she be removed because of her Japanese parentage.

There was but one dissenting vote in the class of sixty-three after a stormy session presided over by Ellmer Munster, president of the student body. That this dissenting vote was cast by a girl who had been influenced by parental prejudice and was not using her own reasoning, was announced by the vote of Principal C. E. Keyes this morning.

NEWSPAPERS PRAISED. "It is deplorable that this unfortunate situation had to come up," said Principal Keyes this morning. "but I feel that it has had a broadening influence on the students as a whole. For this we have to thank the newspapers who unanimously decried the attitude of the students in protesting against Miss Furuta, despite their various policies on the Japanese question."

"I think that it goes to prove that the west while protesting against the Japanese invasion through the medium of the press is not unfair or unjust. The west and the western newspapers believe in giving credit where credit is due and the side of Miss Furuta was taken up unanimously when it was learned that she had fairly won the honor. It was this attitude on the part of the press that brought the students to a realization of their error."

SYRIAN GIRL TO TALK.

"Credit must also be given the students who protested for being big enough to see their mistake and to rectify it. This shows that their education is not just as some thought it at the original protest. As for the girl who continued in her protest and stands alone against Miss Furuta and the class, I fear that her objections are rather a case of parental prejudice."

The controversy over Miss Furuta followed immediately the decision of the faculty to name her as one of the four class valedictorians because of her unique record in the school. Born in this city of Japanese parents, Miss Furuta has gained twenty-four ones and eleven twos on her report cards.

When twenty-eight of the sixty-three signed the petition against Miss Furuta, she forthwith withdrew from the speakers' platform but the majority of the class refused to meet the meeting yesterday resulted in an almost unanimous vote in her favor. The other speakers on commencement day will be Libby Bahai, a Syrian girl; Harry Gross and Charles Carney.

Mills College Club to Hold
Christmas Bazaar at Hotel

A forerunner of the holidays will be the Christmas Festival and Bazaar which Mills College Club of Alameda County will sponsor on Friday at Hotel Oakland. Among the club leaders are (upper) MRS. JOHN PERINE; (lower) MRS. CHARLES J. YOUNG-BERG.

Nations' Colors to Mingle at Benefit Friday for Endowment Fund

Nations will mingle their colors Friday when the Mills College club of Alameda County receive at a Christmas festival and bazaar in the rose room in Hotel Oakland and invite the public to an afternoon and evening program in the ivory ball room in benefit to the Mills College Endowment Fund. Holiday novelties will be offered to the shopping public at reasonable cost in the ten attractive booths which will contribute a riot of color to the bazaar.

Where the American colors wave, Miss Jeanne Gregory with a score of assistants will show fancy needlework. Aprons, useful and otherwise, will be found under Holland's flags, where Miss Helen Bacon, with a score of aides, will better her wares. Oriental treasures collected from both Japan and China, have been collected under the direction of Mrs. Don Smith for the shoppers who seek novelties for their holiday giving.

MYSTERY BOOTH. Mrs. William E. Sharon has recruited a corps of former Mills women to the Mystery booth where surprises will be exchanged for small coins under the flag of Spain. The confections and sweetmeats which have made the club famous in years past will be assembled in a French concession which is being planned by Mrs. Charles J. Young-Berg. Home cooking—such viands as may await the holiday table or go into the gift baskets—along with pies and cakes and tempting pastries will be bartered by a large group of Mills women, headed by Mrs. W. H. Byington. Irish colors will mark the booth whose patronage is already largely promised.

Memorial rooms in the Ethel Moore Memorial hall may be reserved in the special section which has been arranged in tribute to the late trustee of Mills college and widely known civic worker. Postcard sales of the proposed dormitory will be sold for $1, the purchase price representing a brick in the structure. Plans drawn for the building by Miss Julia Morgan, will be shown for the first time. Miss Rosalind A. Keep is chairman.

STUDENTS ASSISTING. Mills college students are joining with the alumnae women, taking over a campus booth under the leadership of Miss Margaret Long, in the effort to swell the endowment fund.

A regular Christmas booth, featuring Italian wreaths, Christmas tree and holiday decorations, together with black cats which has made her locally famous, will be in charge of Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter. Eda Waldrop of San Francisco has arranged the Friday afternoon program which will present a half dozen artists in music and drama. Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills college, will read the Christmas play, "The Wolf of Gubbio," in the evening. The bazaar is complimentary to the public. Door fees for the programs will be turned into the endowment fund.

ACTION URGED ON TWO SENATORS

Eastbay Residents Ask Johnson and Shortridge to Work for Budget Items.

Letters and telegrams, directed to Senators Hiram Johnson and Samuel Shortridge, and asking determined and immediate action toward favorable consideration of budget items for the Alameda naval base, were sent today to Washington by hundreds of residents of the Eastbay. More are to follow until the two senators are made fully cognizant of the desire of the local citizens that their previous attitude of seeming indifference be reversed. To back the emphasis of this latest appeal, a number of the most influential organizations in San Francisco, this time, are behind the movement.

Senator Johnson was greeted at his home today with a number of messages sent there direct.

AGAIN COMES TO FRONT.

Inclusion of the Alameda item in the national budget and the announcement of Secretary Denby that the navy has filed a request that the government accept the 339-acre tract for the Pacific naval base site has brought the question of the local base once more to the front. Secretary Denby also said that the navy would ask that $100,000 be appropriated for a start on the work. It is to secure this appropriation, which will mark the actual start on the base, that efforts are being made. Several thousand individual letters and telegrams are more forceful than letters from organized bodies. It is up to the individual citizens of all communities interested in the location of a naval base here to do their share in urging congressional recommendation and appropriation of money by writing or writing their congressional representatives.

It is mere conjecture at this time whether or not the present Congress will act on the appropriation. The conference on the limitation of armaments tends to delay all action of this nature, but there is no pertinent relation between that conference and the naval base proposition. With the naval reduction accomplished, according to the ratio considered, it has been shown the United States will have a large fleet and one that has been called the best balanced in history. A base will have to be established in the central area on the Pacific Coast regardless of the outcome of the conference.

VIGOROUS ACTION NEEDED.

To stimulate favorable action on the part of Congress and to secure the acceptance of the land as well

Add one more name to the ranks of famous musicians. Judge Harry W. Putcifer, who presides over the destinies of the Justice Court of Oakland, has entered the lists of the music masters and is qualifying to speak authoritatively on tone production, timbre, cadenzas, obbligato and all the rest of the technique of music.

It all comes about through the suit of Owen Kennedy, Berkeley music dealer, against Charles Kahn of Oakland for $48 alleged to be due on the contract price of a piano. Kennedy claims that the machine, purchased from Kennedy, is faulty. Kennedy claims that it is perfect, and in support of his contention has had two machines brought into Judge Putcifer's court, where afternoon concerts are getting to be a regular part of the judicial procedure.

Yesterday a series of records covering everything from jazz to Amelita Galli-Curci was played on the phonograph involved in the case. Today another machine of the same make and price stands in the courtroom, and as the case progresses both machines will be played for the edification of the court.

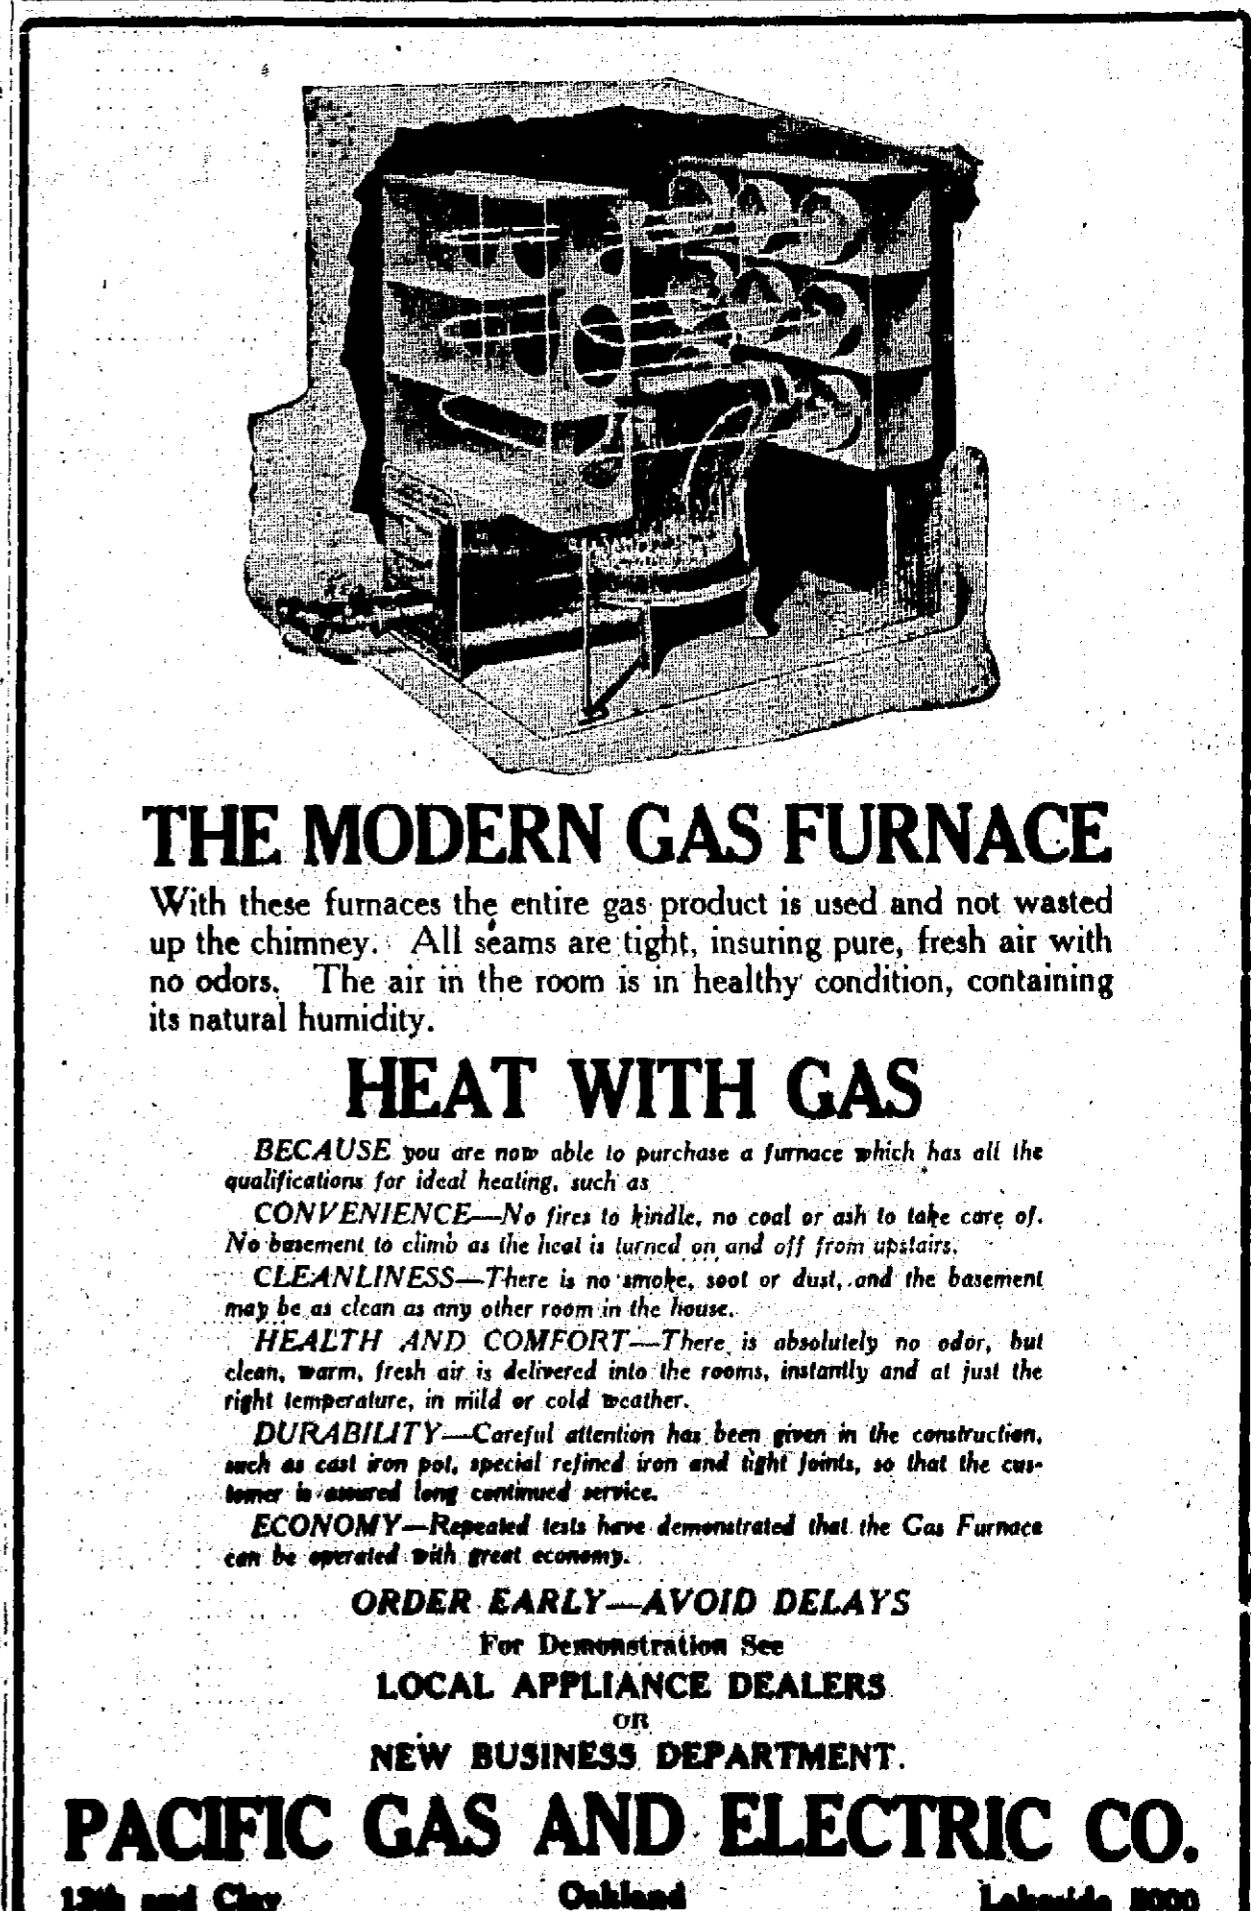

as the appropriation, it is necessary to stir the California delegation to united and vigorous action. So far the two United States senators have taken no active part in the naval base matter. They need to be shown the will and desire of the people. Several thousand individual letters and telegrams are more forceful than letters from organized bodies. It is up to the individual citizens of all communities interested in the location of a naval base here to do their share in urging congressional recommendation and appropriation of money by writing or writing their congressional representatives.

One of the features will be a pageant of nations which the Foreign Club will present tonight. The various transportation companies, both rail and water, made a special display of articles imported to California for manufacture into products, and tonight the Hundred Per Cent Club will distribute a number of prizes as its feature of the day's events.
